

AKADEMISKA
SJUKHUSET

Skoog Visiting Professorship 2022 Program

Organized by:

Department of Plastic and Maxillofacial Surgery
Uppsala University Hospital
Uppsala, Sweden

Professor Milomir Ninkovic
Department of Plastic-Reconstructive-Hand and Burn Surgery
Bogenhausen Hospital, Munich, Germany
Skoog Visiting Professor 2021

Prof. Milomir Ninkovic is Professor in Plastic Surgery and Head of the Department of Plastic-Reconstructive-Hand and Burn Surgery at the Bogenhausen Hospital, Technical University of Munich, Germany.

Prof Ninkovic completed his medical education including general surgery and plastic surgery in Sarajevo , followed by a one-year fellowship with Marko Godina in Slovenia. He worked in Innsbruck, and since 2003 in Munich, leading one of the most active reconstructive centers in Germany. He is an internationally recognized plastic surgeon with vast expertise in head to toe complex reconstruction, authoring over 144 peer-reviewed publications in the field.

Prof Ninkovic is well-known for his innovative approaches to complex problems in reconstructive microsurgery with pioneer work in breast reconstruction, extremity reconstruction or dynamic reconstruction of bladder acontractility. He is the former president of the European Association of Plastic Surgeons (EURAPS) and received numerous awards for its contributions to the field such as the Godina Travelling Fellowship of the American Society for Reconstructive Microsurgery, Theodor-Billroth-Award Austrian Society of Surgery or the Gillies Lecturer of the BAPRAS

The Department of Plastic and Maxillofacial Surgery at Uppsala University Hospital is honoured to host Professor Milomir Ninkovic as the 2021 Skoog Visiting Professor during the 7th and 8th of April of 2022.

Agenda

Thursday 7th April

18:30. Dinner with Uppsala Plastic Surgeons.

Location: TBC

Inspirational Lecture: “ Looking for Excellence in Plastic Surgery: My journey”

Friday 8th April

7:45-8:45. Skoog Lecture: “Creativity and Innovation in Plastic Surgery”. Location: Grönwallsalen

9:00-10:00. Visit to the Departments and thank you to Gunilla Nygård

10:00-12:30. Teaching and Lunch with Residents, Junior Doctors and Fellows

Location: Conference room, 3rd floor

13:30. Visit Uppsala Highlights

Tord Skoog (1915-1977)

Tord Skoog was the founder of the plastic surgery department in Uppsala in 1951 and was appointed the first full professor of plastic surgery in Scandinavia in 1961. He was a native of Uppsala with a MD in 1943 at Uppsala University. He trained in Sweden, Finland, and 1946 in England with Sir Harold Gillies and Sir Archibald McIndoe. In 1948 his thesis on Dupuytren's contracture generated an international impact. He was an honorary fellow of several national societies and an Honorary Fellow of the American College of Surgeons as well as appointed Commodore, First Class, of the Finnish Order by the president of Finland

Skoog's contributions to plastic surgery were vast and influenced by his visionary mind and artistic talent. He was a true pioneer in many fields of plastic surgery e.g. hand surgery, burns, breast surgery, cleft, lip and palate surgery and facial surgery. Skoog's international contacts especially after the first international congress of plastic surgery in Stockholm-Uppsala 1955 made him an educator of many surgeons from all over the world who came to Uppsala to learn from him over the coming years.